VOLUNTEER INFO

Volunteers support the Friends Book Sale in a variety of ways. Some volunteers simply love books – looking at them, handling them, glancing through them, trying not to collect them. Some know books need to “go” but want to see them go to new owners, rather than to a landfill. Others really want to help the library expand its services. Regardless of motive, volunteers have lots of fun going through the books offered for sale and are jubilant when books find new homes!

The Friends try to have enough volunteers who can complete a list of responsibilities so that everyone can take days off guilt-free. Some people like one volunteer assignment better than the rest, while others like to rotate as needed. The Friends are very flexible and have lots of fun discussing whether a book should be considered a “classic” or whether another is actually science fiction.

What to expect:
Thursday mornings, 9-11am:
• Sort donated books from the previous week
• Display books for sale
• Tidy up sale shelves

Other days (no particular schedule):
• Tidy up and replenish shelves
• Make signs
• Help produce the newsletter
• Deliver boxes of books to off-site locations where we donate them (eg., large print books to local nursing homes)
VOLUNTEER INTEREST FORM

*Complete this form and hand it in at the Athens library front desk, scan/email it to FAPL45701@gmail.com, or mail it to the Athens Public Library, 30 Home St, Athens, OH 45701

Name: __________________________________________________________________________________

Address: ________________________________________________________________________________

City, State: _____________________________________________________________________________

Phone: __________________________________________________________________________________

Email: __________________________________________________________________________________

Preferred volunteer activities: (optional) __________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________

Are you a member of the Friends of the Athens Public Library? If you would like to join, obtain a Membership Form on the Friends’ info page at MyACPL.org or ask for one at the Athens Public Library.